Counselling Advanced Diploma

Course Introduction:

This Counseling Advanced Diploma Level 4 has been specially designed for enthusiastic learners who want to excel in counselling and psychotherapy field. This course provides basic knowledge about most rehearsed theories of counselling and psychotherapy. There is no particular entry requirement for this course however the course can be taken as a progression route from our level 3 counselling diploma.

Important point for learner is that in this course's literature, words counselling, psychotherapy and therapy are used interchangeably as they refer to same term. However on successful completion of this course students do not become medically qualified to self-examine the patients requiring medical or psychiatric treatment.

Most of the early work in counselling was carried out by Europeans, Germans and Austrians, so most earlier terms in counselling field are in German language. We have tried our level best to replace these German terms with appropriate English equivalents and where we are unable to convert the German term, we have further explained this term in English. Earlier most psychotherapists were Jewish, they were forced to leave Europe and most of them migrated to USA. So course literature after 1930 period is also rich in American English terms.

We aim to provide you affordable and flexible way to further your education, the course therefore offers you the best deal available. The registration fee, certification fee, and full tutor support- all this is included in the course price.
