Course Introduction:

Stepping into management represents the single most important career development the average professional will ever experience.

To take on a supervisory role is to step away from the entry-level workforce to become a figure of authority and leadership. Trusted for guidance, direction and delegation, to accept a management position is to take on enormous responsibility. Nevertheless, it is the actions and decisions of management teams that will ultimately determine the success or otherwise of any given organisation. To succeed in management is to become the most sought-after commodity the business world has access to. However, the step between standard team-membership and leadership is also the largest and the most difficult to make.
